

I do not feel that the laws should change in regards to telephone solicitation. The "do not call list" is effective and it should stay that way. I believe cell phones should also be included in the no call program. There is enough marketing going on in the world in other forms to get information from.